Eco-brick format:
win living space or isolate more

The Rustica bricks belong to the Eco-brick range. They are 3.5 cm narrower than the average facing brick. This creates 2 possibilities: either you insulate more for a higher living comfort, lower energy bills and a more environmentally friendly house. Either you gain 3.5 cm living space along the entire perimeter of the house.

Play of sleek, clean lines

The Metropolis collection is ideal for a sleek, lined facade with character. The stones are 24 cm long and barely 4 cm high. Due to the cementation on the stone, its surface balances between smooth and slightly rough.

Space Conqueror

With its sharp line, the Metropolis facing brick creates space for more insulation or extra living space. It is only 6.5 cm wide instead of the usual 10 cm. That space saving is welcome in new construction and certainly during renovation.

Stylish roots

Stylistically, the stone winks at the past and the future. Its length and rich, vibrant colors bring the modernist Art Deco of the 1920s back to life. With its geometric patterns and clean lines, this architectural style was a symbol for progress and speed.

For the city of the future

In this way, Rustica gives a new home the grandeur of an existing building. And during renovations, the facing brick bridges the home of yesterday to the urban architecture of the future, as the name of the collection suggests.

Unique richness of colour

The collection has 8 shades: Atrium Red, Aula Red, Civitas Brown, Colonia Black, Urbis Brown, Vesta Black, Dover White and Sonic Gray.
